The ALPS Active Equity Opportunity ETF (RFFC) consists primarily of stocks determined to have better than average or improving fundamentals as measured by return on invested capital (ROIC).

We believe ROIC is the most complete measure of profitability, which in turn is the primary driver of equity returns. Both the rate of change and durability of ROIC are important considerations in determining potential business value.

Focusing on ROIC on a stock specific level allows for security selection to be a prominent driver of RFFC’s excess returns.

2 S&P Composite 1500 Index combines three leading indices, the S&P 500, the S&P MidCap 400, and the S&P SmallCap 600, to cover approximately 90% of US market capitalization. One may not invest directly in an index.

Important Disclosures & Definitions

An investor should consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses carefully before investing. This material must be preceded or accompanied by the prospectus. Read the prospectus carefully before investing.

Shares of ETFs are bought and sold at market price (not NAV) and are not individually redeemable.

All investments are subject to risks, including the loss of money and the possible loss of the entire principal amount invested. Additional information regarding the risks of this investment is available in the prospectus.

Effective 6/1/2023, the RiverFront Dynamic US Flex-Cap ETF changed its name to the ALPS Active Equity Opportunity ETF. Additionally, RiverFront Investment Group, LLC ceased to serve as sub-adviser to the Fund and ALPS Advisors, Inc., the Fund’s investment adviser, assumed all responsibility for selecting the Fund’s investments.

Due to the nature of the securities in which the Fund invests, the Fund may have relatively high portfolio turnover compared to other funds.

The values of equity securities, such as common stocks and preferred stock, may decline due to general market conditions that are not specifically related to a particular company, such as real or perceived adverse economic conditions, inflation (or expectations for inflation), changes in the general outlook for corporate earnings, changes in interest or currency rates or adverse investor sentiment generally. Equity securities generally have greater price volatility than fixed-income securities.

The Fund is considered nondiversified and as a result may experience greater volatility than a diversified fund.
