Fact Sheet as of March 31, 2025

Fund Strategy

- The ALPS Asset Allocation Growth & Income is designed for investors seeking current income and capital appreciation while also seeking to manage risk.
- The Adviser seeks to achieve the Fund's investment objective by strategically investing in, and tactically adjusting allocations to, exchange-traded funds (ETFs) that, under normal market conditions, are expected to consist of ETFs advised by the Adviser, as well as unaffiliated ETFs. The ETFs in which the Fund may invest consist of ETFs that are listed on US exchanges and may have exposure to international securities.
- The Fund also seeks, under normal market conditions, a target asset allocation, on a look-through basis, of 60% to equities and 40% to fixed-income securities, subject to variations of +/- 20%.

Dynamic Investment Process

Strategic allocation and tactical adjustments enable dynamic positioning for allocation flexibility.

Long-Term Strategic Allocation:

- Identify asset classes or market sectors that appear to present attractive relative long-term value and capital growth opportunities over a three- to ten-year period.
- Position the portfolio across asset classes that offer the optimal combination of risk and long-term return potential.

Short-Term Tactical Adjustments:

- Process periodic modifications to the allocation in response to market conditions.
- Emphasize asset classes that are perceived to have a higher probability of relative outperformance.
- Combine mathematical valuation models with market judgment and technical analysis to make risk-controlled adjustments to the allocation in order to take advantage of short-term opportunities.

Effective 2/28/2025, the RiverFront Asset Allocation Growth & Income changed its name to the ALPS Asset Allocation Growth & Income. Additionally, RiverFront Investment Group, LLC ceased to serve as sub-advisor to the Fund and ALPS Advisors, Inc., the Fund's investment adviser, assumed all responsibility for selecting the Fund's investments.

The Fund invests in affiliated exchange-traded funds (ETFs). To seek to mitigate risks of conflicts of interest arising from investments in affiliated investment companies, the Fund has adopted an expense structure under which the Fund does not pay advisory fees to the Adviser. Each ETF in which the Fund invests will be subject to its own principal risks. Those ETF risks may in turn become principal risks of an investment in the Fund. ETFs are investment companies that are bought and sold on a securities exchange. The Fund could lose money by investing in an ETF. Overall securities market risks may affect the value of individual instruments in which the Fund or an affiliated ETF invests. When the value of the Fund's investments goes down, your investment in the Fund decreases in value and you could lose money.

The performance of the Fund will depend largely on the decisions of the Adviser as to strategic asset allocation and tactical adjustments made to the asset allocation. At times, the Adviser's judgments may prove to be wrong from time to time or for extended periods of time and the Fund may lose money. The performance of an affiliated ETF is related to the economic sectors that the Adviser may choose to emphasize or deemphasize from time to time, as well as to the individual securities selected by the Adviser within those sectors. The investment returns for particular economic sectors will fluctuate and may be lower than other sectors. In addition, the individual securities chosen for investment within a particular sector may underperform other securities within that same sector. The value of an affiliated ETF's investments in fixed-income securities will generally decrease when interest rates rise, which means the Fund's NAV will likewise decrease.
